

CLUB LEADER CONTRACT

The role of being a student club leader entails more than just leading an organization. Your activities and behavior as a club leader are not only viewed by other students, but also by Columbia University and the surrounding community. Your actions reflect back on the P&S Club when you associate yourself with the university. As a club leader, you are held to a higher standard and are expected to behave in a manner that reflects these standards. Your role is to help coordinate academic, philanthropic, and social activities while respecting the diverse interests of the campus community. We expect you to serve as a role model and make decisions related to your club that would be deemed appropriate by the P&S Club Director and the University as a whole.

As a student at Columbia University, you are responsible for being aware of all policies that affect both your individual behavior as well as your club/organization. This includes Columbia University policies (as dictated by New York State and Federal Laws), CUMC policies, and College of Physicians and Surgeons specific policies. The strictest of these policies shall supersede any others, as no policies can override University policies.

If your organization or individual behavior in relation to the P&S Club violates any of the policies listed, you may be subject to discipline from the P&S Club and/or your Dean of Students or Program Director. Such cases include, but are not limited to: hazing, discrimination, vandalism, theft, alcohol or substance abuse, dishonesty, or misappropriation of any funds. Violations may result in student organization privileges being revoked, including recognition & budget. Additionally, any alleged individual violations will be reviewed, investigated, and then forwarded to your associated Dean of Students/Program Director for review and possible disciplinary action. The University assumes no responsibility or liability for activities conducted off campus.
